What is Strategies?

Training and Technical Assistance agency funded by:

• California Department of Social Service
  Office of Child Abuse Prevention

• Stuart Foundation
Strategies Supporting Father Involvement Project

- Promote agencies’ father friendliness
- Supporting Father Involvement implementation
- Father engagement collaborative and network capacity building
Presentation Objectives

• Describe ways that data can be used to meet the ‘needs’ of the audience

• Describe the link between ‘unit of analysis’ and point of view

• Describe plot as a narrative structure to talk about data
Story Telling

• Audience

• Point of View

• Plot
Who is the audience? What do they want to know?

AUDIENCES

- Policy Makers & Executives
- Program Managers & Administrators

INFORMATION

- Are the desired outcomes attained? Is the program the most effective choice? What is the cost?
- What parts of the program work well? What needs improvement? What is the cost/benefit? Are we meeting our goals?
Who is the audience? What do they want to know?

AUDIENCES

• Staff

• Beneficiaries (Fathers)

INFORMATION

• How will this impact me? What will my experience working in the program be like? Are we meeting our goals?

• How will this impact me? What will my experience in the program be like? Will it help me? What is the cost/benefit to me?
Types of Evaluation and Data

• Summative – Does it work?
  – Desired outcomes attained? Quantitative
  – The most effective choice? Quantitative
  – Cost/benefit? Quantitative

• Formative – What is it? How does it work?
  – What parts work well? Quantitative & qualitative – What will my experience be? Qualitative – Will it help me? Quantitative and qualitative Point of View and Unit of Analysis

- Point of View - The lens through which you see the story; the vantage point the story will take

- Unit of Analysis – The major entity that is being studied
Unit of analysis should build a bridge to the story one wants to tell

Using a Plot to .... Organize Data & Tell the Story

• Understanding what happened

• Differs from an incident

• Essential elements can include:
  ➢ Action – Reaction
  ➢ Exposition, Conflict, Resolution

Setting the Stage (Exposition)

- Who are the characters?
- What is the motivation?
- What are the goals?

| What agencies are involved with the SFI project? | Demographic variables |
| What prompts agencies to participate?          | Agency reports        |

FATHER Project and CLUES

• CLUES established a Latino Father Advocate position to work on-site at the FATHER Project.

• G/ES hired Spanish-speaking Employment Counselor to serve FATHER Project participants.

• Translated materials, implemented outreach plan, and began enrolling Latino dads in FATHER Project.

• Together, launched new Latino parenting group.

• CLUES and GES sharing expertise to support Latino fathers and their families.
FATHER Project: Latino and Native American Enrollments (2006-2010)
In 2010, the FATHER Project implemented 33 “Play and Learn” sessions, the skill-building parenting group. 26 dads, 15 moms, and 62 children attended.
Summary of Example 1: Visibility Presentations

• Primary objective is to engage partner organizations.
• Personalize through use of participant photos, staff photos, and logos.
• Engage partner by co-presenting the material with their staff members.
• Utilize existing data to update annually, customized for dissemination in other formats.
• Use materials/pictures for other marketing and communication purposes…(annual update, brochures)
The FATHER Project is a program of Goodwill/Easter Seals Minnesota, a nonprofit organization that assists people with disabilities and disadvantages in achieving their education and employment goals. Funds from our Goodwill stores support employment and training programs and services.

The mission of the FATHER Project is to assist fathers in overcoming the barriers that prevent them from supporting their children economically and emotionally.

Funding is provided by the United States Department of Health and Human Services, Administration for Children and Families, Grant: 90FR0068.

These services are available to all eligible persons regardless of race, gender, age, disability or religion.
OUR HISTORY:
Founded in 1999 as one of 10 national “Partners for Fragile Families” demonstration projects, the FATHER Project was originally administered by The Minneapolis Youth Coordinating Board. The FATHER Project became a program of Goodwill/Easter Seals in 2004, making it possible to continue assisting young fathers in the community. In 2006, the FATHER Project received a five-year federal grant to expand our proven collaborative service model.

OUR SERVICES:

PARENTING SUPPORT
You’ll learn practical parenting skills and receive support from other peer fathers in similar circumstances.

CHILD SUPPORT SERVICES
Hennepin County Child Support provides staff on-site at the FATHER Project. From paternity to payment issues, we help you understand and improve your situation.

GED SERVICES
We provide intensive GED support and other educational services.

LEGAL SERVICES
Central Minnesota Legal Services partners with us to provide family and civil legal services, including visitation rights, custody and child support.

EMPLOYMENT TRAINING SERVICES
We offer comprehensive employment services, including:
- Job skills evaluation and short-term training
- Job search support and résumé development
- Job placement support

LIFE SKILLS/EMPOWERMENT
We offer self-development and personal growth empowerment groups.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE?
As a father or father-to-be, you may enroll in the FATHER Project if you are:
- 17 to 35 years old
- Unemployed or underemployed

Example 2: ROI Research Project

• Contracted with Wilder Research to conduct this economic “Return on Investment” Study.

• Compiled list of economic and social impact areas of the FATHER Project.

• Identified and obtained source data.

• Analysis and dissemination.
ROI Analysis: Estimated Benefits of the FATHER Project

$ of increased child support paid to mothers
$ of increased take-home pay for participants
$ taxes paid to state and others
$ value of fringe benefits received by working fathers
$ expected additional future lifetime earnings for participants completing GEDs as result of program
$ value of volunteerism by some participants
$ estimated impact on child development
ROI: Data Sources/Partners

• Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development (DEED)
  – Total wage and hours data for cohorts of participants

• Hennepin County Child Support
  – Total support payments/percentage payment for groups
  – Paternity establishment data

• Internal records, Goodwill/Easter Seals
  – GED completions
  – Employment placement records and follow-up
  – Volunteer/leadership contribution by fathers
ROI Results: Economic Impact of the FATHER Project

• Results were presented in two parts.
• For the actual ROI, results showed $3.41 returned in the long-term for each $1 spent to run the program annually.
• When factoring in additional “prospective” benefits, results showed an additional $6.03 returned on the $1 investment.
• Overall, results show a strong economic return on dollars invested, with the long-term social impact being even greater.
Summary of Example 2: ROI Research Project

- Primary objective was to show the economic impact of FATHER Project services.
- Required substantial resources, time and $$$, from the organization to complete the project.
- Results show strong economic impact, but many of the most important impacts are not quantified.
- Paints part of the picture (economic return), potentially an effective tool to communicate with policy-makers and potential funders.
FATHER Project

Example 3: Video Projects

• OFA Video documentary (formal, higher budget)

• Local media (opportunistic)

• In-house video projects (less formal, less costly)
OFA Video Documentary Project

- Description of the project and process
- Preparing staff and participants
  - Selecting participants
  - Awareness of project objective, aligning participant experiences with objectives
- Coordinating with partners / logistical considerations
- Example: McKnight Foundation video project
- Example: Use of local media
“In-House” Video Projects

• Selecting the right consultant for the job
  – Social media
  – Interactive logic model
  – Editing and various web-based formats

• Highlight participant progress to show impact through smaller video projects

• Example: Logic Model

If you click on the text description of each outcome in the chart that is above, you can watch a video of a FATHER Project participant describing the impact of the program in that impact area. If you click on the chart images, you can see graphs of preliminary qualitative measures of this outcome. You may also download this more extensive logic model for the program.

Summary of Example 3: Video Projects

- Be opportunistic in pursuing and responding to opportunities to highlight your program.
- Seek outside consultants that understand your program, willing to work on smaller video projects.
- Multiple potential uses for shorter video clips (social media outlets, web page, logic model).
- Opens possibilities for participants to tell their story.
FATHER Project

Example 4: Leadership Development

• Means of “telling the story” of fatherhood and reaching more sectors of the community, including potential participants or funders.

• Engaging participants and staff.

• Integrates multiple goals: program engagement and retention, participant goals, and program exposure.

• Example: The Citizen Father Project.
